When one's mother dies he loses the best, truest and most devoted friend it is possible to have upon this earth. Of course there are others bound by the strongest ties, but "Mother's" affection holds fast when all others waver. Nothing is more heart-rending than the sight of the remains of one we love being lowered into an open grave, but this sad scene is greatly modified when we know the deceased has come as near living up to the commands of God as it is possible for human beings to do. It is perfectly natural for every man to think his mother the best person on earth, (pity the one who does not think so). Being a devout Christian, our mother strived hard to train us up in the way which we should go, and never did we have cause to regret our actions, when following her advice and teaching. I have many good points at all we owe to the careful and prayerful work of Mother. For all our shortcomings and faults, we alone are responsible, and she is not. Only a few hours before her death, she called to her bedside and admonished us to put our trust always in God, and we need have no fear whatever of the final outcome. All of this good advice given by a mother comes back to a man when he sees her lying cold in death, and we speak of these things so that those yet under a mother's care may take heed of what she says and walk in the path she indicates.

It is gratifying to see the large number of men who have decided out from under the party lash and announce that they will be honest voters for the best man nominated. The disgusting practices of voting or a yellow dog society are a disgrace to the name of man. It is a disgrace to the name of man to be a member of a party which is so full of corruption and dishonesty. It is a disgrace to the name of man to be a member of a party which is so full of corruption and dishonesty. It is a disgrace to the name of man to be a member of a party which is so full of corruption and dishonesty.

THE "STRICTLY PARTY MAN" are looking around for the simple reason that they have an axe to grind. They are what may be truthfully called "Partisans or Revenue Only." Such people give us a pain in the abdomen. If there were fewer elections—say one in five years—these people would soon starve out.

THE desire to get something for nothing, has grown to disgustingly large proportions among people of late years. The latest and silliest "break" is made by a company of soldiers who were mustered into service at Newport, Ky., in 1890, and, by some oversight, were never mustered out. Those left of this company met at Newport, Sunday, and decided to make a fight to compel the state to pay them for all the time since mustered in, claiming that as they were not mustered out the pay should necessarily go on. We do not suppose one of the men would dare make oath that his "services" have been worth a penny to the Commonwealth. As unreasonably as this move may appear, it is about on a par with many other types of rascality practiced every day by people too infernally lazy to do honest work, and who expect to get something for nothing.

THE London Speaker commenting on the slight foundation for the Spanish claim that Spain should be relieved of the Cuban debt, says: "If investors felt that international loans incurred against the will of the people would not attach to the country the event of a change of government there would be less of that monetary support of misgovernment which has disgraced the high finance of the Nineteenth century." The Speaker declares that Spain has for many years charged up an enormous debt to Cuba in the hope of saddling it on the United States when the inevitable loss of the island should come about.

THE Peace Commissioners are having a picnic. They are wine and dined, work about two hours a day and receive outrageously large pay from Uncle Sam. This gang may succeed in doing good for our country, but we greatly fear it will wind up as a complete farce. The Spaniards were whipped and we see no need in asking the Don's advice as to what the United States will do with territory justly gained.

MR. R. LEE DAVIS has leased the Richmond Register and will, together with Mr. R. R. Pickles, continue the publication. Mr. Davis will have charge of the news and editorial department which insures a mighty good paper. THE RECORD wishes its old friend and neighbor unbounded success.

MARRIED FIVE TIMES.

The Matrimonial Experiences of Mrs. Mary Horne, of Kentucky, Who is But Twenty-Two Years of Age.
 LOUISVILLE, Ky., Oct. 21.—Though only 22 years of age, Mrs. Mary Horne, who lives near Prestonburg, Ky., has the most remarkable marriage record of any woman in eastern Kentucky. Within four years she has had five husbands.
 Her maiden name was Jones, and at the age of 18 she had her initial matrimonial venture. Her first husband did not live long. Shortly after his death she was again led to the altar. Her second marriage proved an unhappy one, and she soon obtained a divorce. Within a year she succumbed to the importunities of a former suitor who became her third husband. As in the case of her first, he did not long survive the union. A little more than a year ago she was married a fourth time to a neighboring farmer, but they soon parted by mutual consent. Her fifth marriage was solemnized last May. The match is so far a happy one.

MUST CHANGE CONTRACT.

The Martin Chair Company Required to Guarantee Thirty-Five Cents Per Day for Each Convict.
 FRANKFORT, Ky., Oct. 24.—From a reliable source it is learned here Saturday that the state prison commissioners have served notice on the Martin Chair Co., of Cincinnati, contractors for the output of the prison chair plant here, that it must before November 1 make some important changes in its present contract, or that it will be canceled and the convict labor leased to some one else. The change required, so it is said, is for the Martin Co. to guarantee 35 cents per day for each convict employed instead of under the present system.
 The state board meets here on November 2, and final action in the matter will then be taken.

Michael Bauer, and was one of the best known secret service men in the country. Capt. Carter intended joining his son in Indianapolis Monday, and when called to take the train was found dead in bed. The coroner's verdict was that he died of heart disease about midnight and without pain.

NEGRO LYNCHED.

He Assaulted and Attempted to Murder Annie Morrison, Daughter of a Cumberland County Farmer.

TOMPKINSVILLE, Ky., Oct. 24.—News has reached here of the lynching of Arch Raur, colored, who committed an assault on and attempted to murder Annie Morrison, oldest daughter of Henry Morrison, a prominent farmer of Cumberland county.

The crime was committed at the Morrison home Friday afternoon about 3 o'clock.

The members of the Morrison household were visiting in the neighborhood, except the eldest daughter, who remained at home to care for the house. Raur, unnoticed, went direct to Morrison's home.

Miss Morrison screamed for help when he entered, but no one was near enough to hear her, though the house was close to one of the most frequented public roads.

She fought the fiend with desperation, but the Negro drew a piece of sharp iron, striking her two or three blows on the head and inflicted wounds that may prove fatal. He fled, believing his victim dead.

When the neighbors learned of the horrible affair they formed a mob and pursued the Negro with bloodhounds. They trailed him to a small cabin within five miles of where the crime was committed.

The door was quickly broken down. The Negro hearing the noise, tried to make his escape through a window, but failed.

When they entered he begged for mercy, but a noosed rope was quickly thrown over his head and about his neck and he was dragged, more dead than alive, to the woods, where the rope was tossed over the limb of a tree he was hauled into the air, and the life remaining soon passed out of his body.

The lynchers left the body and disappeared. Eight bullet holes were found in the body Saturday morning. The remains were buried by Raur's relatives.

GOEBEL LAW UPHELD.

A Decision by Judge Cantrell, of Georgetown, on the Celebrated Kentucky "Force Bill"—An Appeal.

FRANKFORT, Ky., Oct. 21.—Judge Cantrell rendered a decision at Georgetown Thursday night holding the Goebel election law, or force bill, constitutional. The case will be appealed to the court of appeals.

Judge Cantrell did not render a written opinion Thursday, but will probably do so later, and for the present the details of his holding can not be stated. The principal ground relied on by the opposition was that the law is in conflict with the federal statutes, and Judge Cantrell overruled this and other minor contentions.

FROM HOOSIERDOM.

EDITOR CENTRAL RECORD:

After our school was pleasant visit to our old home this summer, we resumed to partially resume our former relation to the dear old CENTRAL RECORD; but since our return to the Hoosier State, our duty has been following so closely in the footsteps of another that our time for correspondence has been limited. However, each Saturday as we eagerly peruse the pages of treasured items about our friends and their welfare, we more firmly resolve to let them know how pleasantly we are situated.

Today ends our first month of school; and a very pleasant month, indeed, has it been, for we certainly have a model school with all the modern conveniences. With all due courtesy to Old Kentucky and her school-system, we shall have to confess (to you Kentuckyans) that we are better pleased with the Hoosier school-system than ever. Everything is more systematic. The teachers are more conscientious, and we shall have to confess (to you Kentuckyans) that we are better pleased with the Hoosier school-system than ever. Everything is more systematic. The teachers are more conscientious, and we shall have to confess (to you Kentuckyans) that we are better pleased with the Hoosier school-system than ever.

If we did not have a faint recollection of reading an article some months ago penned by our worthy editor in which he praised the marvellous points of Hoosierdom as contrasted with some of the darkest faults of the grand old State, Kentucky, we should greatly fear that we have boasted too much of one of the grandest things of this State, the school system; but, as it is we feel pretty safe, and shall leave well enough alone, at least until next time.

HOOSIER PEDAGOGUE

THE NEW WAY.

WOMEN used to think "female diseases" could only be treated after "local examinations" by physicians. Dread of such treatment kept thousands of modest women silent about their suffering. The introduction of "Wine of Cardui" has now demonstrated that nine-tenths of all the cases of menstrual disorders do not require a physician's attention at all. The simple, pure taken in the privacy of a woman's own home insures quick relief and speedy cure. Women need not hesitate now. Wine of Cardui requires no humiliating examinations for its adoption. It cures any disease that comes under the head of "female troubles"—disordered menses, falling of the womb, "whites," change of life. It makes women beautiful by making them well. It keeps them young by keeping them healthy. $1.00 at the drug store.

For advice in cases requiring special directions, address, giving symptoms, the "Ladies' Advisory Department," The Chattanooga Medicine Co., Chattanooga, Tenn.

W. L. ADDISON, M.D., Cary, Miss., says: "I use Wine of Cardui extensively in my practice and find it most excellent preparation for female troubles."

Reflections of a Bachelor.

The world's opinions are the suspension of a man's respectability. Lots of men believe in a woman that don't take any stock in women. If cats all the crying in the daytime women wouldn't be near so much of them. The minister is the only one who knows what a lady doesn't have every night for supper. You can't tell how much a girl likes to be kissed by how she looks when you talk about it. When a woman won't say something particularly nasty about another woman she says her husband is such a kind man, only a little bit of fish-eyed.—New York Press.
